

Garden City Community Church Connections November 2025

Building a community where all are enriched through Christian Love, Service, and Spiritual Renewal.

Dreaming God's Dream
NO GIFT TOO SMALL, NO DREAM TOO BIG.

Stewardship Campaign

As our Stewardship Campaign continues, let us reflect on this year's theme: "Dreaming God's Dream."
What steps can we take together to support God's vision of the world?

Jesus teaches us to love God with all our heart, mind, soul and strength-and to love our neighbors as ourselves. Your pledge is a powerful expression of that love. It is one way we live out our faith and commitment to building a better, more compassionate world.

At Garden City Community Church, we are called to build a community where all are enriched through Christian Love, Service, and Spiritual Renewal. We do this by faithfully reaching out to others and welcoming all into our fellowship.

As you consider your support this year, we invite you to reflect on a few questions:

- Where do you see our congregation changing lives?
- How does worship and music deepen your faith or bring peace to your spirit?
- In what way has the fellowship of our church brought you comfort, friendship, or strength?
- Has there been a time when pastoral care has made a difference in your life?
- How have you been a part of changing lives through ministries of our church?

Even as we continue the search for a new pastor, our mission remains clear: to serve God by serving others. We are committed to supporting the hungry, sick, and the homeless. Our prayer groups, youth programs, and local food initiatives are just a few of the ways we work to improve the well-being of others.

As you prayerfully consider your pledge, remember that generosity is a way of life and it brings God's dream to life-right here at Garden City Community Church.

Together through love, service, and faithful giving, we can make God's dream come true.

We are looking for youth (and the otherwise young-at-heart) to contribute to bringing our weekly services, special services, and other content to our homebound and our away-from-home members. This is also our chance to reach out to those seeking a new church home. But we cannot do this alone, we need your help, or your children's help in making this happen. Absolutely no experience required, and while we will guide newcomers, we will also gladly take advice from the old sages.

Our Stewardship Campaign – ‘Dreaming God’s Dream’ no gift too small, no dream too big is going on now.

Garden City Community Church’s dream is to build a community where all are enriched through Christian Love, Service and Spiritual Renewal. We do this by faithfully reaching out, inclusively drawing in.

- Where do you see our congregation changing lives?
- How does worship or music change your life?
- How does the fellowship of the church impact you?
- When did pastoral care matter in your life?
- How have you been involved in changing lives through the church?

We pray together, play together, serve together, gather together and support the Wider Church together.

Our congregation is changing lives. The mission and ministry here stir our hearts – it’s why we belong, why we volunteer, and why we give. Together we are dreaming God’s dream for this community – where love, service, and faith transform the world around us.

We hope you will join us in financial support of our congregation as we ‘Dream God’s Dream.’

Stewardship Sunday will be on Sunday, November 23, 2025. Join us for a luncheon after the 10:30 am service. See the flyer in this newsletter about the luncheon.

It’s a great opportunity to share with fellow church & community members and get to know them better and their faith journey. For those of you who would like to join us, whether you have done so before or not we are currently on Season 4. You can easily catch up by viewing previous seasons on the Chosen app or just join us as the episodes stand on their own.

Occam's Razor and the Compassion Imperative

By the Rev. Forrest Parkinson, LP, LMSW

In pastoral counseling, we often encounter moments that test both our hearts and our understanding. One such moment came when a therapist's long-term client — a man recovering from alcoholism — suddenly stopped attending sessions without warning. Their last meeting had ended positively; nothing seemed amiss. Left puzzled and concerned, the therapist struggled to make sense of the sudden silence.

Here, applying Occam's Razor—the principle that the simplest explanation tends to be correct—can provide clarity. The most likely cause is relapse. Addiction, as Alcoholics Anonymous calls it, is “cunning, baffling, and powerful.” Relapse frequently unfolds without outward warning, even to those who care deeply. It is often cloaked by silence and shame, obscuring the psychological struggles beneath.

Addiction's secretiveness is no accident. Shame around socially condemned behaviors drives individuals to hide their suffering. Deceit and concealment become survival tools that perpetuate the cycle. For those in recovery, the therapeutic relationship is a lifeline, a source of identity and hope. Yet, that relationship can also lead them to mask setbacks—to overstate strength, to avoid disappointing their counselor or themselves.

When relapse strikes, shame can be so overwhelming that some abruptly end therapy, choosing silence over the humiliation of honesty. This act is less about avoiding the therapist's judgment than escaping self-condemnation.

For therapists, this turn is deeply challenging—balancing concern for the client, self-doubt, and confusion. Still, the key lies in readiness: maintaining “conditional positive regard,” setting aside disappointment, and holding space for the client's return. This posture nurtures healing and models resilience.

Families and friends navigate similar emotional terrains: anger, loss, and frustration. Working through these feelings before a hoped-for reunion prepares them to respond with genuine grace and support.

When loved ones struggle with the addiction cycle of recovery, relapse and restoration, the call to compassionate presence is not easy.

Such realities invite us to contemplate God's relentless mercy. The parables in Luke 15—the shepherd leaving ninety-nine to seek one lost sheep, the woman sweeping her house for one lost coin—capture this divine pursuit. The hymn “Just As I Am, without one plea...” echoes this grace: we come not on merit but simply as we are, vulnerable and in need.

This truth shapes the counselor's role and the Christian calling itself. Our vocation is to love faithfully, patiently, leaving no stumbling blocks in the way of grace. We must resist judgment and doubt that hinder restoration.

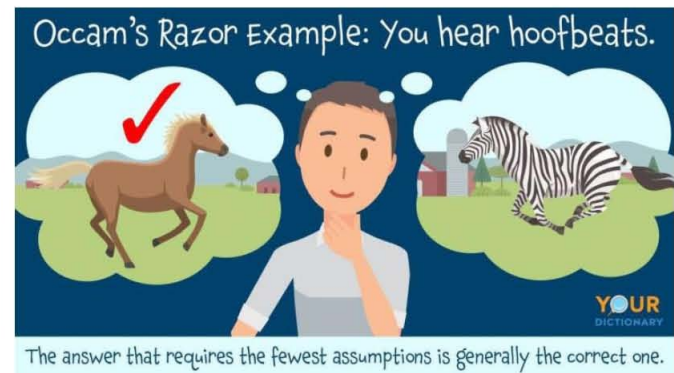

When we do, we become instruments of God's healing, embodying mercy that restores and transforms. No matter how hidden the struggle or overwhelming the relapse, there is always room for return, forgiveness, and new life.

This call to compassionate presence is not easy. It asks us to hold paradox—to recognize addiction's power and pain while embracing the hope of restoration. It urges us to accept ourselves and others as beloved children of God journeying toward healing.

In the end, our highest calling is this: to love without reservation, to welcome without hesitation, and always ready to say, “Come just as you are.”

We wish you a wonderful year, filled with new opportunities and many blessings.
